Flak Jacket Advanced, lightweight armor for your laptop

Most neoprene sleeves only provide scratch protection. The Flak Jacket combines low resilience, shock absorbing foam with corrugated plastic stiffeners to provide complete protection for your laptop in a slim, lightweight and compact solution. Not only is the low resillience foam more environmentally friendly than neoprene, but in the event of a fall, it's friendlier to your computer as well.

When the computer is removed, the rigid case becomes a lapdesk, shielding your lap from excessive heat.

This fall, don't let your laptop leave the house without its jacket!
